Printing Business for Sale

This well-established printing business is based in Western Sydney. It uses both offset and the latest digital printing equipment to produce a full range of printed products. These products include brochures, flyers, envelopes, business cards, labels, presentation folders, stationery and much more.

Over its long history of trading, this business has built up a considerable database of repeat customers. Many of these are in a particular niche. Focusing on this niche enables the business to market itself as an expert in its field. This niche strategy provides the business with a strong competitive advantage.

The factory is fully set up for in-house digital printing, offset printing, binding, and finishing. It also has a separate office space for graphic design, sales and admin. Rent is very affordable.

With systems and procedures in place throughout, orders flow seamlessly through the operation. Experienced workers operate all of the machinery. Also, the owner is happy to train you. As a result, this business is ready for you to step into and operate, and then drive to the next level.

For the 2021 financial year, this business achieved sales of $1.8 million and net profit to a working owner of $391,000. Whilst this business currently achieves strong financial results, pre-Covid, this business achieved even higher sales and profit figures. Therefore, there is an opportunity to potentially benefit from the likely bounce back in sales and profitability when current restrictions ease.

This quality business is being offered for sale at $800,000 plus WIP.

This business is being sold through Argus Business Brokers. Contact David on 0425 329 765 for further details.
