Red Rooster Franchise Opportunity Own a Recognised National Brand in a Thriving Country Town

This well-established Red Rooster franchise, located in a vibrant small country town, offers a unique opportunity to own a business backed by one of Australia's most trusted national brands. With a prime location and a loyal customer base, this franchise is ready for a hands-on owner to take the reins and drive it forward.

While the local market has seen increased competition in recent times, this presents an exciting challenge for a motivated owner to leverage the strength of the Red Rooster brand, implement innovative strategies, and grow the business in a community that values quality and service.

Why Red Rooster?

- * National Brand Power: Benefit from the reputation, marketing, and operational support of a leading franchise network.
- * Proven Business Model: Step into a business with established systems, processes, and a strong customer following.
- * Training & Support: Receive comprehensive training and ongoing guidance to help you succeed.
- * Community Connection: Become a valued part of a close-knit town where relationships and local presence matter.

This is an ideal opportunity for a working owner who is passionate about food, customer service, and community. With the backing of a respected national brand, you'll have the tools and support to adapt to market changes and build a thriving business.

The owner-operator spends approximately 20 hours per week in-store. Opportunity exists for the new buyer to be a full-time owner-operator. No prior experience is required making this the ideal opportunity for those with direct experience and buyers wanting to expand into a new field. Full franchise partner training is provided.

Opportunity exists for the buyer to embrace Ubereats, Menulog, Click - collect and Red Rooster delivery. With none of the delivery methods currently being utilised this may present an opportunity to increase revenue.
