Mining Medical Services Business for Sale | Expressions of Interest

Rare opportunity to acquire an established medical services business supporting the mining and resources sector, currently operating across nine mining sites. This business provides essential occupational health, workforce medical and compliance-related services to clients operating in a safety-critical industry.

With strong demand for mining medical services and ongoing workforce health monitoring, this opportunity is ideally suited to an existing healthcare operator, occupational health provider, medical group or investor seeking exposure to the resources sector.

Business Highlights

- * Established provider of medical services to mining, resources and industrial clients
- * Currently operating across nine mining sites, demonstrating established industry presence and service capability
- * Essential service offering aligned with workplace health, safety and compliance requirements
- * Services include, health surveillance, drug and alcohol screening, respiratory assessments and occupational health support
- * Opportunity to grow through corporate contracts, regional expansion and additional allied health services
- * Suited to strategic buyers, medical centre groups, occupational health operators or hands-on owner-operators
- * Confidential sale process available for qualified buyers

Why This Opportunity Stands Out

The mining sector places a high priority on worker health and safety, with ongoing requirements for medical assessments, monitoring and compliance support. A business operating in this space can benefit from recurring demand, long-term client relationships and the specialised nature of the services provided.
