Long-Established Promotional Garment Decorating Business, Sutherland Retail Shop Plus Online Store

This custom garment printing and embroidery business has been trading in the Sutherland Shire since 2014, built on a simple idea: a printing business that actually looks after its customers rather than treating every order like a number.

Over a decade on, that's translated into a genuine mixed customer base of individuals, sporting teams, schools and local businesses, all served through both a retail shopfront and an established online store.

The current owner is relocating overseas and is offering the business for sale as a genuine, exclusive listing.

What sets this operation apart is its breadth and flexibility. It's set up to print anything from a single one-off shirt through to full team or workplace uniform runs, with no minimum order quantity, which keeps the customer funnel wide and repeat business easy to win.

The service offering spans screen printing, digital printing and embroidery on t-shirts, hoodies, polos, caps, school wear and workwear, so the business isn't reliant on a single technique or product line.

Same-day and fast turnaround capability (in-store printing in as little as ten minutes for simple jobs) is a genuine point of difference in a category where most competitors quote days.

The lease runs through to May 2028, and plant, equipment, fit-out and the CRM/POS system are all included in the sale and unencumbered, so there's nothing to pay out or finance separately after settlement.

With a lean team of one full-time and one part-time or casual staff member, and an established online store handling orders and shipping Australia-wide, the business can be run efficiently without a large payroll to manage.
