Integrated IT, Comms & Bookkeeping Business Central QLD 5938

Integrated IT, Communications & Bookkeeping Business - Central Queensland 5938

An outstanding opportunity to acquire a diversified business technology provider delivering essential IT, communications, cloud, bookkeeping and business automation solutions to an established customer base throughout Central Queensland.

Operating from a prominent Central Queensland location, the business offers considerably more than traditional computer support. Its integrated service model combines managed IT services, technical helpdesk support, communications infrastructure, hardware and software solutions, cloud services, bookkeeping and advanced workflow automation-all from one experienced provider.

The business has developed a sophisticated operating environment incorporating Dynamics 365, Microsoft Power Platform, Xero and customer management systems. These integrations help streamline service delivery, reduce repetitive administration and support a consistent customer experience. The systems, automated workflows, operating processes and accumulated customer history provide a valuable platform that would take considerable time and investment to independently replicate.

With an established multidisciplinary team, comprehensive service capability and multiple opportunities to increase recurring revenue, this business offers an attractive acquisition for an IT provider, communications company, accounting group or commercially minded purchaser seeking a scalable regional technology platform.

- Communications and IT revenue of approximately 73.2% of total revenue

- Diverse revenue across managed IT, communications, software, hardware, cloud services, bookkeeping and automation

- Strong potential to increase managed-service agreements and recurring monthly revenue

- Integrated Dynamics 365, Power Platform, Xero and customer management environment

- Experienced team covering management, technical services, communications, bookkeeping, administration and customer support

- Established customer relationships with significant cross-selling potential

- Remote-support and cloud capabilities providing scope for geographic expansion

- Well-equipped Rockhampton premises with technical, administration, meeting and customer-service areas

- Current lease to March 2027 with a further three-year option available

This is a rare opportunity to acquire an established business combining technical expertise, recurring-service potential, valuable operating systems and multiple complementary income streams. The platform is well positioned for continued organic growth or integration into a larger IT, communications, accounting or professional-services organisation.
