Profitable Bulk Haulage Transport Services Business

Business for Sale Description

Bulk Haulage Transport Services Business for Sale Newcastle NSW Asking: $2,495,000

Based in the broader Newcastle, Port Stephens and Hunter Region of NSW, this profitable business provides Bulk tipper transport services and has a fleet of 13 modern and well maintained tipper trucks and trailers which deliver products to anywhere throughout Australia. The business is licensed to haul contaminated material from General Solid Waste through to asbestos contaminated material.

Quality staff and business systems ensure the vehicles pick up and deliver products and remain in constant contact with clients making for a safe and timely delivery. Transport is available for large contract jobs such as bulk excavations, developments and build, to one-off jobs for parts and hazardous materials. With reliable staff and a large fleet of quality trucks, trailers and assets, the business is well positioned for future success. The business can also keep up with the growing number of small, medium and larger jobs, which many smaller operations simply can't service.

The business is being offered for sale, essentially for the price of the business assets and the owner is willing to sell individual assets, including trucks and trailers separately by negotiation on a case by case basis, on a first come first served basis. The vendor is willing to sell the property separately for a price of $3,000,000 (plus GST if applicable), by agreement or establish a new long-term lease to the purchaser, by agreement.

The well-established and profitable business has an enviable clientele and a large database of customers which can be leveraged for future growth and development. The business has an extensive list of valuable assets included in the sale (or that can be purchased separately by agreement) and a small but capable team already in place. Sales have remained strong due to the great reputation which has been built up over many years and growing demand. This business provides an excellent return on investment for a working owner, with 2016 financials showing a net profit of circa $730,000.

About the opportunity:

The business is a leading privately owned independent company which provides its quality clientele with quality bulk haulage services by a trusted local brand. So if you're looking for a strong performing business for essentially the value of its assets, a profitable and proven business in a growing industry, then enquire now because this opportunity won't last long!
