Business for Sale Description

Printing, Promotional & Uniform Products Business for Sale Brisbane Asking: $1,390,000+ SAV

- Established for the last 15 years by the current owner, this business can offer you that all important, diverse products base. Able to supply to mainly long term, high repeat business clients, products such as; uniforms, corporate/workwear, office supplies/stationery products, docket/receipt/order books (required constantly), promotional products such as pens, stubby coolers, corporate gifts, including all manner of signage, self-inking stamps and promotional products, flyers, booklets, annual reports (includes outsourcing selected printing jobs).
- This business has assumed such a large market share within the greater Brisbane region. Enjoying the large, and constant repeat ordering activity of thousands of clients. This is due to the majority of all products being consumables and needing replenishment throughout the year. These products are also required by the majority of businesses, across a diversity of industries (a high number of schools, entertainment industry, business, and corporate clients etc).
- The majority of, if not all of this business's multi-million-dollar sales is being generated by a long list of different industries. There being no need to have a sales rep generate new client business for the last 9 years! Nor any active marketing of its website or brand via promotional/advertising activities. Even if a new owner wanted to take advantage of this business's low-lying fruit, (the owner being made extremely comfortable financially, by this business's returns), the cost of creating your own promotional products is low, (completed in-house), making growing this business highly cost effective. If further sales growth was on the agenda for a new owner, it would suit an owner with enthusiasm, as this business has provided this owner such a cosy financial base and constant profit reward, therefore, there has been little motivation to grow sales proactively.

- This business has also afforded this owner the freehold building (this business able to be relocated). This owner now transferring after 15 years, for change sake.
- This is a vastly comfortable business to own. Without requiring active and on-going marketing and promotional activities. Prime located, within a growth region. This business, due to its high sales volumes offers its business clients what they want, when they want it, and for prices that are hard to beat, elsewhere. This business is hard for anyone to beat or duplicate, as this business literally makes its money by profiting from consistently high-volume client ordering. Many businesses, including notary clients return often. Now, you can understand why financial and operational comfort has become the norm here.

Now, it's your turn to enjoy financial security with this high net income and diverse product business. $1.39 Million (SAV approx. $70-90K) open to offers
