Nett $200,000+ Working from Home

- * Exclusive Distribution of market leading product
- * Business has been established for 40+ Years
- * Currently operating from home
- * Huge potential for growth
- * Ideal for someone from the Building industry

Rarely do you find a business that ticks so many boxes. Working from home, exclusive distribution of a respected product, and consistent profits in excess of $200,000 are just a few things that buyers will love about this opportunity.

With a 40 year track record, this business has stood the test of time. They have exclusive distribution rights to a niche product that has reputation for its quality with a huge number of satisfied clients out there in the market.

Over the years they serviced a wide variety of customers spread throughout Queensland and they still work with many of them today. The business currently doesn't employ any staff and offers the current owners the flexibility to have a good amount of time with the family during the year. Being familiar with the building industry will be advantageous even though the current owner is not on the tools.

Even though they have a long history, there is still a huge amount of growth for a new owner. They currently do very little in the way of marketing as their existing customer base provides them with a comfortable amount of work. Someone with sales and marketing skills could take the business to new levels.

Business like this are hard to find- especially in this price range.
